Artificial Intelligence (AI) in Healthcare: How is it Changing Healthcare and What are the Ramifications?

By Jeffery Daigrepoint, Senior Vice President | Coker Group

The adoption of artificial intelligence (AI) in healthcare is on the rise and solving a variety of problems for patients and providers. While we do not see AI taking the place of humans, the ethics and risk of machine involvement in patient care over traditional methods have yet to catch up to the technology.

Consider this scenario.
